

REGISTERED BONDS ARE SAFEST KIND FOR ORDINARY MAN

Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo favors registered Liberty bonds instead of coupon bonds for the man who does not have a safety deposit box, according to advice just given to officers and employees of railroads through an official circular signed by McAdoo as director general of railroads.

"A large number of railroad men by the purchase of Liberty bonds are now holding an investment security for the first time," reads the circular. "A large majority of the bonds so held are coupon bonds. Coupon bonds must be carefully guarded against loss or theft. They are payable to bearer. If they are lost, payment of them cannot be stopped, and they cannot be replaced by the treasury department.

"Coupon bonds are suitable for investors who possess safe deposit boxes. Registered bonds are provided to meet the needs of persons who have no safe places of deposit.

Registered bonds are issued in the name of the owner, which appears on the face. The interest is paid by United States check, drawn to the order of the owner, and sent him by mail. If a registered bond is stolen, the thief can not use it except by forgery, and the payment of the bond or the interest checks may be stopped. The bond itself may be replaced on proof of loss and if proper security is given.

"Registered bonds are the best suited for the great majority of railroad men. The number of coupon bonds outstanding in the hands of railroad men—many of them kept, doubtless, in places affording no real security—is such a vast aggregate amount that it causes serious concern. This is a wholly unnecessary risk."

PALESTINE IS TOO SMALL FOR PEOPLE

(Detroit Free Press)

When our British brethren marched into Jerusalem awhile back and the Turk ran away, there were shouts of rejoicing which were heard around the world. Great things were immediately prophesied of the future of the Holy City and the storied land of Palestine. The prophets said Jerusalem would speedily be restored to high rank among the cities of the world; that Palestine after the war would teem with population and its waste places be made to bloom and blossom as the rose.

But now comes soberer reflection

Just to Remind You!

You signed the WAR SAVINGS PLEDGE. By that act you gave considerable encouragement to the local workers and helped to make a splendid showing for Phoenix. Also, you personally enjoyed that pleasant feeling which always follows a patriotic duty cheerfully performed. Now the time has come to check up. The pledge was just a starter—an expression of how much you, individually, want to help win the war. Just now the government wants the money. Pledges don't pay bills.
